

If somebody asked the question what are my chances of success or how likely am I to succeed in this business, the answer is that their success is up to not a lottery, it's not a by chance. If they're willing to learn from a team of experts that will teach them and they're willing to put out the effort it takes, then they can make their own success happen. I'd encourage them to consider asking themselves the following questions: 1) What if this works? How would that really impact your life? When this worked, how would the results impact your life? 2) What else do you have? That is, what other options do you have that has virtually no risk, comes with a group of people ready to help you, and has huge potential? In other words, if you don't do this, what else could you do to achieve your goals? And, if you really don't have another great option, then I'd suggest asking yourself this third question: 3) Why not? Why not give it a shot? You have absolutely nothing to lose and everything to gain, so why not register as a brand ambassador and go for it?!

If someone says I don't think I know enough people to do this, then I would say to them how many people do you think it takes? The reality is there is a plan here that allows you to make some really serious income even just by referring one person that does well. So, you don't need to know lots of people, although that may be helpful, because it only takes referring one person to start potentially earning income. A good question to ask yourself is who do you know that is highly ambitious that could be helpful but it's certainly not necessary more importantly ask yourself do you know somebody who is highly ambitious and you connect them with our leadership, you could do very well.

If someone says I don't have any time then I would receive them how much time do you think it takes? The reality is you have the opportunity to leverage other peoples time with this business. That is, you literally can click a button to shoot out the interactive presentation to as many people as you want, and then those people can enroll and start doing the same thing. As they start sharing the word as brand ambassadors your business can be growing even while you sleep. This is why people with no time to build this business. Most income opportunities are very time demanding. This can be done literally in minutes a day because the results come from the efforts of everyone and not just from your own efforts.

If someone says they don't have any money so they can't build the business, I would ask them how much money do you think it takes? In this business there are a number of different registration packs you can start with and some are very expensive. But, the real good news, is to build the business you literally just need to text the interactive presentation to grow your business. Most businesses cost a tremendous amount of money to start - you may need inventory, rent, employees, etc. and it's typically a lot. Here, there is no overhead at all and literally anyone can build it.

If someone says this is just a pyramid then how to remind them that most businesses are structured like a pyramid where there's one CEO then vice presidents and more managers and even more employees. However with a job, you don't make more money than the person above you. In this business there may be people who started before you, perhaps even the person who introduced you, but you can make more income than all of them so it may draw out like a pyramid structure, but it certainly doesn't pay that way. This business pays people that make things happen.

Encourage them to realize as a brand ambassador they are going into business for himself but certainly not by them self. This business comes with the most incredible and wise group of people who are motivated to help you. I'm sure you where you work nobody is staying up late nights thinking about how they could help you make more income. In this business, do you want only have one person but likely a group of people who will stay up all night trying to help you become more successful. You'll find more support in this company than any other income producing activity you'll ever be a part of.

If someone asked how do they get started, let them know they simply register to be a brand ambassador and purchase one of the product kits. Then all they need to focus on is texting out the interactive presentation to as many people as they can. From there, some of the people contacted will become brand ambassadors and join you and getting the word out, while others will simply choose to be customers and buy products through your site.

If someone says that they are concerned about what other people think, I would tell them they should remind themselves that nobody else is paying their bills. Encourage them to realize it doesn't matter what anybody else thinks, but what matters is that they achieve the goals they have for their life.
